

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to pollution control requirements for fossil fuel burning facilities, such as power plants, incinerators and cement kilns, and more particularly, to improved methods of atomizing an SNCR reagent into the combustion effluent thereof.